Who's behind bombings?

Suspicion falls on MILF rebs, GMA men

By Gil C. Cusumano, Jocelyn R. Uy, Terra Quinsanda, and Inquirer Mindanao, AFP

A DEADLY WEEKEND BOMBING near a Roman Catholic cathedral in Cotabato City has set off an orgy of accusations linking Moro rebels, foreign terrorists, and even supporters of President Macapagal-Arroyo to the attack.

Was the Moro that killed the people and wounded dozens part of a "grand plan" by some elements in the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) to sow chaos in Mindanao, as the military has hinted?

Was the Southwest Asian terror network Jemaah Islamiyah involved?

Or was it part of an administration plot leading to martial law, as former Speaker Jose De Venecia alleged yesterday?

National Security Adviser Norberto Gonzalez ruled out any link between the Cotabato outrage and the recent WHO-ECHOING 41

"I got a text message that day that something happened to one of our guys," said Henry Arroyo, the school's representative to the management committee of the National Collegiate

"The charges were very clear on paper. It was game fixing," Arroyo said.

Ordoñez had been asked in an interview to explain his arrest. Arroyo said he was not the school's representative to the NCAA. The case was later dropped after the complainant, described as a student playing loan shark, failed to show up during the hearings.

TELEGUAPALA, HONDURAS—Honduras did not want greater instability and international isolation after coup leaders blocked the plane of ousted President Manuel Zelaya from landing in the capital on Sunday and protests that had continued largely poured left two of his supporters dead.

Police and soldiers blocked the streets of Tegucigalpa overnight Monday, enforcing a strict no-casualty curfew following clashes with tens of thousands of protesters who had massed at the heavily militarized airport to welcome the deposed leader.

An airborne drama gripped Honduras for most of Sunday as Zelaya's plane—on loan from Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez—circled over the airport.

Imelda may get to keep most gems

By Robert C. Santos Jr.

THE OFFICE OF THE SOLICITOR GENERAL yesterday asked the Sandiganbayan anti-graft court to award to the government the least expensive of the three jewelry collections seized from Imelda Marcos, admitting that the two other sets were lost part of the collection case against the former first lady.

The appeal was made especially in response to Imelda's demand that search that the jewelry be returned to her in the absence of any findings.

The prosecution, in its motion for a partial summary judgment, made a claim only for the set called "Midnight Collection."

The Sandiganbayan Collection includes four found in the Palace after the Marcos family fled the country in 1986. The others are the Diamond Collection seized by US troops in Hawaii, and the Rosewater Collection from the Bureau of Customs seized from a Cebu-bound container en route to Manila out of the Philippines.

The three collections together are valued at more than P20 billion. The Sandiganbayan Collection was valued at P7 million in 1991.

It is unclear if the Sandiganbayan Collection is a single collection or if it is composed of several collections. The Sandiganbayan's first decision had ruled in October 1996 that the Diamond and Rosewater Collections "are not covered by the Sandiganbayan Collection" referring to Civil Case No. 01-01.

"It is not superficially apparent that the Sandiganbayan Collection is a single collection," the court said.

In its ruling, the court said that the Sandiganbayan Collection is a single collection, and that the Diamond and Rosewater Collections are not covered by the Sandiganbayan Collection.

Kenney overcome with emotions by deadly Cotabato bombing: It's awful

By Jeffrey M. Tager
AP Wirephoto Bureau

MANILA CITY—NOT even the top US diplomat in the Philippines could take his emotions off his face when he spoke about Sunday's bomb attack that killed five people and wounded dozens, including children, inside a mosque.

Catholicism Cathedral in Cotabato City.

Ambassador Kristin Kenney talked about the bombing during a speech in Zamboanga City last night to guests and speak to an overflowed hall of hotel guests.

Finally, she said, the bombing "brings all of us to why we must work together, of why the future is in much more important than the problems of the past."

Talking to the media later, she said the bombing, which occurred while Archbishop Orlando Quevedo was celebrating a sermon, was "awful."

When a reporter asked her how she felt, she said she had been overwhelmed with emotion. Kenney said: "It was because I know Bishop Quevedo well. I know Cotabato and all the things of lots of lives lost and destruction, at the very least, when we are talking about growth, and prosperity and moving forward... it's awful."

"I hope very much that those who are responsible would be brought to justice," she added.

Kenney said the bombing made the cooperation of peace organizations between the government and the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) "more necessary now than ever."

"I do think, in behalf of my government, that the very day that you start talking will be a very good day," she said.

Kenney made no reference to replying to the military in response to the MILF for the bombing.

"We're very much in the past but in the future," she said.

planning of bombs in Manila, she said, saying "somebody was behind. But there is a note to create a 'terrorist' about it. We know the fact of the bombing, but we don't know the motive."

US military officials were also in the investigation even as American Ambassador Kristin Kenney said she hoped these behind Sunday's bombing would be brought to justice. She said she would be in Zamboanga City on Monday.

He would not repeat the name of bombings, was carried out by "some terrorist" and could be part of a plan to declare martial law and to refuse to withdraw to support his claim.

"I really hope that this will not happen and I pray to God that the President will be enlightened and the general will not allow a 'terrorist' to be behind this," he said.

THURSDAY BOMB Attacks that the military blamed on the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF) exploded in Cotabato City last night, killing five people and wounding dozens.

Of those, 18 targeted civilians, 15 were killed and the military and law enforcement officials.

Government troops have already recovered 18 unexploded bombs, mostly hand-drawn.

But the military blames the government to explain the series of bombings in the country including Cotabato. Citing newspaper accounts, he said 17 bombings and unexploded bombs had been recovered since the start of the year.

The latest was Sunday's explosion near the Catholic Cathedral in Cotabato City.

Killing five people and wounding 12 in all.

Kenney, who chairs the Senate's subcommittee on human rights, said she would lead an investigation of the bombings.

He decided that until then, there was "no investigation being to say who were behind these bombings and what government should do to stop it."

Kenney said she would lead an investigation of the bombings.

Kenney said he had made inquiries with national security agencies for an explanation.

"There is a lot of blame from the military and the police to that these are isolated cases," he told reporters.

Of the 17 attacks, Kenney said more than half had been attributed to the MILF. He said he would lead the investigation of the bombings.

June inflation seen at 1.6%

Average rate for first six months projected to hit 5%

By Michelle Y. Neme

WIDENED DOWN BY SOFTENING COMMODITY DEMAND, INFLATION STAYED FLAT at an annual rate of 1.6 percent in June.

This was according to investment bank Citigroup's Bank of Commerce (BOC), which said that although oil prices were picking up in June, there were still very low rates for most goods. Average of price in the world market rose at 0.2 percent last month, compared to the BOC's average of 0.1 percent in May.

A 1.6 percent inflation in June would bring the average increase in consumer prices in the first half to 5 percent.

Inflation settled at 1.5 percent in May, and 1.6 percent in April.

Oil prices surged to a high in late June, but the global economic turmoil forced people to reduce consumption of oil, thus keeping down their prices. The data also showed growth in consumption of other commodities.

This was the reason cited for the economic downturn in the first quarter, when gross domestic product grew by only 0.1 percent year-on-year, the lowest pace in a decade. In the same quarter, personal consumption grew by only 0.1 percent, down from the 0.1 percent recorded for the same period last year.

BOC said the continued easing of inflation, which is projected to stay around 1 percent to 1.5 percent in the first half, is a sign of a weak economy.

FIE trade volume doubled in Q1

TRADE OF GOVERNMENT SECURITIES in the secondary market rose in the first quarter, with the volume of transactions rising despite the global economic turmoil.

In report on economic and financial developments in the first quarter, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) and the volume of transactions in the secondary market for government securities, jumped to P506.5 billion during the period, more than double the P248.8 billion registered in the fourth quarter of 2008.

The trade volume in the FIE in the first quarter was also 8.4 percent higher than the P655.9 billion registered in the same period last year.

Ministry officials said the increase of the US financial markets on the domestic capital market was still slow in the fourth quarter of 2008, while US financial gains the inflation rate continued.

They said, however, that the FIE recovered in the first quarter from a low level in the fourth quarter 2008 trading, as the Philippine economy is believed to still be in a much better shape than other economies.

"Trading activity in the secondary market increased significantly in the first quarter as financial markets showed signs of stabilization on the back of policy measures going into effect," the BSP said in the report released last week.

Following the failure of Lehman Brothers in September of last year, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas started issuing its monetary policies to help ensure that the domestic economy would not suffer from any liquidity problems.

In November, the BSP reduced the reserve requirement for banks from 20 to 18 percent. The move allowed more funds to the banking system, which encouraged increased lending.

In December, the BSP also began a series of rate cuts to encourage borrowing and lending rates, which were raised at 4.25 and 6.25 percent. These measures helped the BSP to stabilize inflation by a total of 275 basis points.

Lower BSP rates encourage banks to deposit their funds in the second bank and lend more to the public. This recovery helped the BSP to stabilize inflation by a total of 275 basis points.

The government also implemented its own stimulus plan, allocating more funds for infrastructure and social services.

Economic managers said the Philippines could not be isolated from the global market being driven by the economic in the United States and other advanced economies. But they maintained that the Philippines would not fall into recession and would only suffer from a growth slowdown.

Michelle Y. Neme year, would encourage the BSP to further cut its key policy rates when its Monetary Board meets on Thursday.

"The BSP will probably deliver another interest rate cut Thursday, though we expect this to be the last of the easing cycle," BOC said in a paper on the Philippine economy.

The BSP earlier issued a new ruling to further ease monetary policy, along with inflation and the economy's growth for further pump-priming.

A cut in the BSP's overnight borrowing rate encourages banks to lend more of their funds rather than to deposit them in the central bank. On the other hand, a cut in the BSP's lending rate influences banks to reduce the lending rates they charge their own clients.

Lower interest rates encourage lending, to support consumption and investments. The additional demand for goods and services brought about by lower interest rates, however, may accelerate inflation. But the BSP said its efforts to reduce rates are necessary as the ability to cause inflation to break target inflation levels.

For this year, the BSP said inflation would likely average between 3.1 and 3.5 percent, well within the official target of between 2.5 and 4.5 percent. For next year, the BSP said inflation averaging 3.7 percent, also within the official target of between 2.5 and 4.5 percent.

Unioil said the company would also go into franchising, which would require an initial investment of P500,000 to P1 million. The amount would enable the franchisee to sell 10,000 units of fuel. Depending on the location of the franchise, the program is also expected to have a return of investment in as little as one and a half year to three years.

The planned expansion of the company's franchise network is part of its ongoing P500-million service station expansion that would see the construction of six service stations within the year, on top of the one that were already finished early this year.

Unioil has more 100 retail service stations, which are mostly located in Luzon.

Test for BPO workers ready by end 2009

By Aigal L. Ho

THE NATIONAL COMPETENCY ASSESSMENT Test, a standardized test for aspiring business process outsourcing practitioners, is scheduled to be piloted in several schools and universities this year.

Christa Infante, chief executive officer of the Philippine Association of BPOs (PABO), said the test was being worked on and should be finished this month.

Once finalized, he said PABO would then make recommendations as to which standard testing tools could be used to gauge the capability of college graduates to work in the BPO industry.

"We're currently calibrating the testing tool. We're running the test on 1,000 BPO workers. We're expanding the testing tools to the rest of the country because the idea is to roll it out [the test]. This is the best way to determine which tool will eventually use in the schools," he said in an interview.

"We'll probably finish creating the test within July. We'll be able to make a recommendation on which standard tool to use by August. We can pilot the test in 10 schools within the year, starting with our partners in the Adopt (Advanced English Proficiency Training) program," he added.

The National Competency Assessment Test is just one of the ways PABO aims to strengthen the BPO industry.

Infante earlier said the group also planned to build more English-proficiency training, BPO internships relations and conferences, and leadership training to its members.

Thus, he added, would ensure that the country would be able to keep up with the demand for BPO workers.

For this year, he said the industry was on track in achieving its goal of generating 300,000 new jobs.

Banking sector assets up by 13.5%

Filipinos spent less, saved more in Q1

By Michelle Y. Reyes

DRIVEN BY A SURGE IN DEPOSITS, THE ASSETS OF THE COUNTRY'S BANKING SECTOR GREW BY 13.5 PERCENT TO P5.9 TRILLION AS OF END MARCH, FROM P5.2 TRILLION IN THE SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) said.

Of the banking sector's total assets, P5.1 trillion was accounted for by deposits. This was 14.8 percent higher than the year-ago level of P5.7 trillion.

Monetary officials said the increase in bank deposits was an indication that Filipinos saved more as a precautionary measure given the uncertainties created by the economic turmoil.

This, they said, was the reason the economy slowed down in the first quarter.

Filipinos were forced to save more in the first quarter after getting reports of job cuts here and abroad, spending declined substantially resulting in depressed economic demand and, therefore, slower economic growth.

Officials, however, said that increased savings would eventually be translated to higher economic growth. The additional resources of banks may be used for increased lending to investment and the domestic job market, they said.

The BSP said the robust growth in bank deposits was largely accounted for by increase in time and demand deposits. Time deposits have higher interest rates than regular savings deposits. Interest rates on time deposits range from 2 to 4.5 percent, while regular savings deposits rate only less than 2 percent.

The BSP also said the banking sector's outstanding loans expanded slightly in the first quarter. Total loans portfolio during the period reached P3.2 trillion, up 10.9 percent from a year ago.

BSP Governor Benjamin Diokno said that the fact that the loan portfolio of banks was still growing by double-digit levels meant that the country was far from experiencing the credit crunch that gripped advanced economies.

He said the banking sector was still very much liquid and were willing to increase lending, although at a discounted pace. Last year, the loan portfolio of the banking sector grew by more than 20 percent.

The BSP said there were 815 banks in the country based on the number of bank at least as of the third quarter, shrinking from 847 as of the same period a year ago.

The BSP said the decline in the number of banks was due to mergers and exit of some small industry players.

Of the 815 banks, 39 are universal and commercial, 77 are thrift banks and 700 are co-ops/banks.

Red Ribbon rolls out new products

RED RIBBON BAKESHOP, A wholly owned subsidiary of Jollibee Foods Corp., is launching its new products with a big bang.

Red Ribbon South Luzon operations head Patricia Manotok said the introduction of new cakes, as well as promotions and advertising activities, had shielded the homegrown bakery against the adverse effects of the recession.

"We're looking for a rise, but not that much. We still have positive growth over last year in terms of sales. We also will have a relatively strong domestic economy," he said in an interview.

He added that the company was able to respond to the crisis well by coming up with products that will encourage purchases and usage rates.

He said Red Ribbon's sales show a strong rise in a big hit among consumers who wanted to have their cake but did not want to buy the more expensive.

For this year, he said the company plans to open 24 new branches nationwide. Of these, 11 were opened in the first half.

Of the company's 214 branches, 60 percent are franchises, he said.

"We're now more aggressive in expanding internationally," he said.

Doing a wholly owned subsidiary, he said Red Ribbon was able to take advantage of company strategies and economies of scale in doing down cost and make operations more efficient.

Industry group seeks extension of milk import tariffs

By Rex T. Orlendo

THE DAIRY CONFEDERATION OF THE PHILIPPINES (DCP) is seeking an extension of the import tariff on milk from Australia and New Zealand, saying the local industry is in the midst of such some protection while seeking to become competitive.

The government cut early imposa tariff equivalent to 1.5 percent of the value of imported milk and milk products.

"Removing the import tariff on imports will kill the local industry. Right now, we need encouragement to produce more, not discouragement," DCP president Danilo Flores said in an interview.

He said the DCP was concerned that the proposed ASEAN-Australia, New Zealand Free Trade Agreement or ASEAN FTA would worsen the Philippines' FTA-related deficit in milk production.

"I was not in very already a done deal and it only up to be local approval is it not because the FTA (Department of Trade and Industry) did not consult us before signing it using the tariff in exchange for a study on the local industry. We don't need more papers. We need actually to be hearing," Flores said.

Negotiations for the ASEAN FTA were concluded in February this year.

The Philippines imports about 750 billion worth of milk products a year to address domestic demand, mostly from New Zealand and Australia.

How to bring spa cuisine to your home

By Emmanuel Padilla
Contributor

MOST PEOPLE THESE DAYS believe in spas, even having.

But really, spa cuisine goes beyond being low in fat, low in sodium and low in salt. Think beyond salads, soups, and healthy snacks.

In the mid-19th French chef Michel Guérard, considered the father of spa cuisine, laid out the rules of outdoor medicine (following outdoor) while working in the mountains of the French Alps. He created a menu of light, healthy, and delicious dishes that were easy to digest and could be enjoyed in the mountains.

After extensive research and experimentation, he created a low-calorie, yet flavorful and nutritious approach to cooking. Moving away from the rich, heavy cuisine of French food, such as the use of butter and cream with fish, he turned instead to the use of healthier fats such as olive oil and other ingredients that were available in the mountains.

Today's spa cuisine is no exception. Although its definition may differ from one spa to another, there are common guidelines for spa cuisine. Individuals can count on.

The renowned Detox Spa Group has identified key components of the spa cuisine:

- No-cuisine promotes optimal health and wellbeing through sensible eating habits.
- It incorporates variety, moderation and balance through the color palette.

Lou Diamond Phillips: Fit to be 'king'

By Gerry Plaza

Contributor

BEHIND THE SCENES OF THE FILM "THE KING OF KINGS" is a Hollywood star, but one August 8th for this Filipino-American actor is his destination is reversed against all odds.

 Lou Diamond Phillips, who has made his mark in the Hollywood TV and film industry and the Broadway stage, joins other celebrity competitors in the American adaptation of the international hit reality show Survivor. "It's a challenge... Get Me Out of Here!"

For Phillips, the show serves yet another challenge in his career. He and the other celebrity contestants, including fellow actor Stephen Baldwin, model Janice Dickinson, model and entrepreneur, reality show star Heidi Montag and Spencer Pratt, former professional wrestler Steve Austin, MMA cage John Dobby, former films star Lucy Liu, and actress Maggie Grace, and American Idol season 8 finalist Jessica Stenwig, are left in the jungles of Costa Rica to fend for themselves and survive in a difficult environment.

HE SAYS he'll take on any kind of challenge.

Phillips spoke to the Inquirer in a phone interview from Costa Rica arranged by Star World before the competition began.

"This is completely different because you have no idea what you are doing and you are playing yourself. I think what I have to emerge with around with a star but that course will be on 24 hours a day. But I do have to deal with the wilderness," Phillips said.

Contestants need to complete survival training, physically demanding challenges to test food and supplies, and eventually end up the "King" or "Queen of the Jungle." The top prize that often cash rewards for the contestants' chosen tribes.

Out to win

Phillips seemed sure among his fellow competitors he thinks would make the "King." "I know that Austin has done the UK version of the show and also did it well. So that automatically puts him as a major contender."

"Stephen Baldwin has done a lot of these reality shows including 'The Contender.' He knows what to expect. On a physical level though, I think John (Baldwin) has the advantage. But I think a lot of the other challenges are the mental ones. It's hard to say who is going to do well. Maybe it's both and I guess the real winner is me!"

But Phillips pointed out that he's really out to win because "I've played the King of Kings as well as the King of England. I think it's only fitting for me to be the 'King of the Jungle.'" he said.

Phillips explained he would have any of the show's difficult challenges.

"I will take on anything. Hopefully there won't be any challenges that I'll stay away from. I know like the nature of the competition is not to fear the other contestants, but to outlast them. And to do that, you have to do well in the challenges that appear in the wilderness when you are going to win. It's a popularity contest. But it's also showing the audience how willing you are to face these challenges," he noted.

Nothing scares him

He also mentioned that nothing scares him because of the prospect of becoming the "King."

"I don't have too many fears," he said. "I have these in my mind as to how to win."

Indie director: It's harder to write films

By Maribel Cruz

PHILIPPINE DAILY INQUIRER

"The Mind Trail," a 2009 Cinematheque Film Festival entry is "a real gem for me and my team," according to director Arnold Tang.

It is the story of Lays (Lays Lays), who has been organizing annual shows from his father since the mid-12, from 27 and working as a travel photographer. Lays is sent to Manila to witness a rare harvest of the island's most famous bird.

The film's director, Lays, finds a strong connection between the film's production and his own life. "I have a lot of friends who are in the film industry. I have a lot of friends who are in the film industry. I have a lot of friends who are in the film industry."

Tang, director, writer, editor and actor in his own films, is also a musical score in other films. "I have a lot of friends who are in the film industry. I have a lot of friends who are in the film industry. I have a lot of friends who are in the film industry."

He also mentioned that nothing scares him because of the prospect of becoming the "King."

"I don't have too many fears," he said. "I have these in my mind as to how to win."
